

Michael F. Cromett

Mike Cromett graduated from the University of Minnesota Law School magna cum laude in 1978. Since then, he has been a criminal defense attorney and public defender in Minnesota, doing both trial and appellate work in adult and juvenile cases.

He is currently an Assistant State Public Defender handling direct appeals before the Minnesota Supreme Court and Court of Appeals and post-conviction matters before trial and appellate courts.

Mike has been an Adjunct Professor at the University of Minnesota Law School since 2008 and teaches Trial Practice. He has also taught trial practice skills to prosecutors and defense counsel at the Minnesota County Attorneys Association annual Trial School in Bemidji, MN, from 1990-2002. In addition, he has been a frequent presenter at many Minnesota criminal justice seminars.

Mike was a Member of the Board of Directors of the Innocence Project of Minnesota from its inception in 2001 to 2007, and its Chair from 2005-2007.
