LAW AND LEGAL PHILOSOPHY,
UNIVERSITY OF OXFORD

The John Dewey Lecture in the Philosophy of Law is named in honor of John Dewey, American philosopher, educator, and scholar. A proponent of legal realism, Dewey's philosophy of pragmatism related his conception of a moral life to a variety of contemporary social, economic, and political issues. Dewey lived from 1859 to 1952 and spent one year as a professor of philosophy at the University of Minnesota. The John Dewey lecture is funded by a grant from the John Dewey Foundation and is sponsored by the University of Minnesota Law School to provide a forum for significant scholarly contributions to the development of jurisprudence.
