University of Minnesota Law School LL.M. for Foreign Lawyers Program Application

The University of Minnesota Law School’s LL.M. Program for Foreign Lawyers provides an opportunity to further specialize within the field of law. Now in its 22nd year of educating foreign lawyers in the intricacies of a variety of legal topics, the University of Minnesota Law School invites you to apply for admission to the 2016-2017 LL.M. program. Attached are all of the application forms and information you will need if you do not apply online through the Law School Admission Council (LSAC). Our current LSAC application is available at http://www.lsac.org

Program Dates and Details
The 2016-2017 LL.M. Program for Foreign Lawyers begins on August 11, 2016, and continues through May 15, 2017. In the first three weeks of the program, all LL.M. students are required to complete the two-credit Introduction to American Law course, which prepares students for the demands of the academic year. Topics introduced in the course include U.S. history, legal history, civil procedure, constitutional law, legal English, and legal research and writing. Students will learn how to brief cases, analyze judicial opinions, interact in the classroom, and prepare for the full-time study of law at the University of Minnesota. Please note that this course is required and is offered only in August, at the start of the program.

Once law school courses begin the first week of September, LL.M. students are enrolled in the rigorous, demanding courses offered to J.D. students. LL.M. students select their own courses, focusing on international or comparative law, the U.S. legal system, human rights, or corporate law, as well as other topics. Regardless of the area of focus, virtually all courses during the academic year are taken from U.S. professors alongside U.S. students who are studying for a first degree in law. The program provides international students and lawyers with the opportunity to learn law in English in a focused, competitive environment.

The LL.M. program is a two-semester course, with a fall start only. All students are expected to complete the required 24 credits within one academic year. Application deadline is April 15, 2016.

You may waive the right to access, but waiver of this right is not required as a condition for admission to the Law School or for any other benefits. All letters of recommendation, whether or not written in confidence, are carefully considered as part of the admission decision.

6. Transcripts
   Applicants applying online through LSAC must use the LSAC Credential Assembly Service at http://www.lsac.org/llm/application-process/llm-cas If you decide instead to submit your transcripts directly, read the following instructions carefully:

   Do not submit a photocopy or electronic file. Neither is considered an official transcript. Transcripts must be submitted in English. You must submit a transcript for each institution you have included on page 1 of your application. Official transcripts bear the original signature of the registrar or other appropriate official, and the impression seal of the issuing institution. Attested or certified copies of such records are unacceptable. If your name has changed since the work was taken, it is your responsibility to have the name corrected before the transcript is forwarded to the Law School so that the application and transcripts can be matched.

   If the institution will issue official transcripts directly to you, please enclose them, sealed in their original envelopes, when submitting the application. Otherwise, have the transcripts sent directly to the Director of International and Graduate Programs at the Law School.

   All foreign applicants who have attended universities that issue official transcripts upon request must submit such credentials, with these exceptions:

   A. Applicants from schools in Bangladesh, India, Nepal, Pakistan, France, and schools outside of North America that are on the French system, may submit certified or attested credentials, which should be in the form of mark sheets or examination reports showing the detailed results of exams taken. Certified or attested credentials are those which the issuing institution or government officials have stated are true copies of the original documents. Such credentials should bear the original signature of the certifying official. Applicants may not certify their own credentials.

   B. Foreign applicants who have attended institutions which do not issue transcripts, examination reports, or mark sheets should submit an official statement from the Registrar or other appropriate official giving a detailed description of their program, a qualitative evaluation of their work, and the results of all exams taken.

   If the grading system is not shown on the credentials themselves, a separate statement from the university is required giving this information.

   All applicants who submit credentials on which the award of the degree received is not recorded should submit certified copies of their diplomas. Each applicant should also send an officially certified statement of the applicant’s class rank for their academic programs in which such rank was calculated.
If you are not submitting your application online through LSAC, please send the original hard copies described above to this address:
