Impact of giving

Through support of students, faculty research and programs at the Law School, philanthropy builds excellence in everything we do. The following are just a few of the students whose experiences are directly impacted by the support of donors.

Ceena Idicula Johnson hopes to pursue a career in international human rights law.

"I believe scholarships like mine provide opportunities for students to go out into the world and effect change."

—Ceena Idicula Johnson (’16), 2015-16 Law School scholarship recipient

Olivia Garber is currently working for Immigration and Customs Enforcement and at the Law School as a legal writing instructor.

"Thank you for making legal education accessible to people of all income levels."

—Olivia Garber (’17), 2015-16 Law School scholarship recipient

Luke Haqq is focusing his studies on health care law, hoping to help solve some of the complex legal issues that can arise in this field.

"I would not be able to pursue this career trajectory were it not for the scholarships made available through the University of Minnesota Law School."

—Luke Haqq (’17), 2015-16 Law School scholarship recipient
