Non-Law Student Petition for Law Courses

Most Law School courses are available to students in non-law degree programs at the University of Minnesota. These courses can complement studies in other disciplines. Please note that:

1. Non-law students can directly register for most 3000- and 5000-level courses; you do not need to complete this form. If you have difficulty enrolling, contact lawreg@umn.edu.
2. Non-law students cannot register for 7000-level courses and courses in the 6001-09 range.
3. To register for 6000-level courses, non-law students must complete this form. Undergraduate students are strongly encouraged to take either Law 3000 or Law 3050 before enrolling in other Law courses.
4. Non-law students should be aware that:
  - a. Credit for law courses taken by non-law students generally is not transferrable to the J.D. or LL.M. programs at ABA-accredited Law Schools, including the University of Minnesota Law School.
  - b. Non-law students must adhere to Law School policies on exams and assignments and must take exams (if any) on the same schedule as law students (although some 3000-level classes may have exams on the undergraduate schedule). Exceptions are available only for extraordinary circumstances if authorized by the Law School's Dean of Students.
  - c. Non-law students and law students enrolled in the same course generally are not graded on the same curve in order to recognize different levels of background and preparation. Students enrolled as auditors do not complete assignments or take exams.
  - d. All students enrolled in Law School courses are subject to the Law School Honor Code. Violations may result in grade reductions. Detailed information about the Honor Code is available on the Law School website.
5. Petitions should be submitted as early as possible to allow time for processing. You will be notified via email of the status of your petition as soon as possible. All approvals are issued through the Law School Registrar's office, not the instructor. Full-time Law School students have priority for registration in all courses.
